We can't even leave a school bus running in the yard to warm up in the freezing cold mornings.... It's against the law!

I don't have a science degree, but methane burning, mining chemicals, and oil spills are bad, it's pretty obvious even to a simpleton now. Has everyone completely lost their minds to profit driven goals?! Is there another planet we can just move to when this one has been completely destroyed by your insane greed?? Do none of you care about the future?

Sincerely,
A concerned planetary resident
