Subject: Strong support for accelerating sector-based credits for tropical forest protection
Comment:

Dear ARB,

I write in strong support of accelerating sector-based credits for tropical forest protection within the California cap-and-trade program in time for use in the third compliance period.

California now faces the urgent, important, and globally significant challenge of reducing its greenhouse gas emissions by 40% below 1990 levels by 2030, as recently signed into law by Governor Brown. To achieve this worthy goal effectively, efficiently, and equitably, ARB will need to employ many measures, including strengthening cap-and-trade by incorporating sector-based credits for tropical forest protection. As detailed in previous public comments (e.g. "Eight reasons for California to lead on climate and tropical forests," October 2015) during ARB's thorough and open public consultation process, inclusion of sectoral offset credits for tropical forest protection can:

- Fight climate change abroad as well as at home
- Contain costs for California companies and their customers
- Make California the standard-setter for the world
- Provide side benefits for sustainable development goals and biodiversity conservation
- Adapt a model that has already been tested using public funds
- Support indigenous peoples' rights and aspirations
- Demonstrate that technical issues are surmountable
- Jumpstart actions in other states and provinces that could finance tropical forest protection

For all these reasons, ARB should accelerate the inclusion of sector-based credits for tropical forest protection within the California cap-and-trade program in time for use in the third compliance period.

Thank you,

Jonah Busch, Ph.D.

Subject: Leakage Approach Needs to Prevent Leakage

Comment:

At Graphic Packaging International, we applaud ARB for continuing to address leakage issues for energy-intensive, trade-exposed entities like our Santa Clara Mill. We encourage ARB to adopt a goal to develop methodology that will prevent domestic and international leakage where California facilities do not compete on equal regulatory climate change footing. Leakage undermines our ability to maintain jobs and sustainably produce local products for Californians. While the proposed approach addresses leakage, we do not yet believe this approach does enough to prevent leakage for California covered entities.

Subject: Assistance Factors to 2030 - Work With Industry

Comment:

Graphic Packaging International asks that ARB direct staff to work with each affected industrial sector in the development of the assistance factors for that sector. We note that the current approach does not require that staff will work with industry or even allow for critical industry trade data to be incorporated with the theoretical domestic and international leakage analyses performed. We worked very effectively with ARB in 2011-12 in the development of the assistance factors currently used for our industry, providing key industry trade data. We hope to work with ARB in this same capacity as new assistance factors are established through 2030. Please direct staff to work with industry and incorporate industry trade data into the development of industry assistance factors.

Subject: Validate Leakage Theory With Trade Data

Comment:

Graphic Packaging International appreciates the theoretical analyses that has been conducted for domestic and international leakage. It represents solid, critical thinking as to what should or might happen in the marketplace. What is unsettling about the ARB approach is that these theoretical analyses are solely based on business school theory and some data prior to 2013 before California's cap and trade program was implemented. No effort has been made to validate the theory with present day data to determine what output has actually been lost from 2013-15 since cap and trade begun. Theory must be validated before putting it to use. Industry can provide insight into the actual impact the cap and trade program has had on lost output, if not actual data in the 2013-15 period, and the current competitive pressures it faces from international and domestic entities without a similar cap and trade program. We encourage ARB to validate these theoretical approaches with actual, recent trade data wherever possible and work with industry to gain insight as to the impact that the cap and trade program has had and the real competitive pressures facing California energy-intensive, trade-exposed entities.

Subject: Needed Improvements For International Leakage - Numerical Results and Expand Past China

Comment:

Graphic Packaging International found the domestic leakage analysis detailed enough to where the Value Added impact and Output impact were determined as a function of potential Assistance Factors by industrial sector. This was very helpful. Unfortunately, the international leakage analysis was not as detailed and did not provide these numerical results. As we have several competitors from China and other Asian countries, we ask that ARB develop the same Value Added impact and Output impact for international leakage too. Furthermore, we also understand that the international leakage analysis focused on China, but we ask that ARB expand the international analysis to include other Asian countries as well, as we compete with companies from several Asian countries in the recycled paperboard industry.

Please see the attached comments on how to improve the program in its next phase, and perhaps gain supporters for the program's extension, by decreasing subsidies to the fossil fuel industry, and depoliticizing the way funds are used by moving the funding for environmental programs into the regular budget process and returning Cap & Trade revenues back to people as climate dividends.

Comment:

California has shown leadership on climate change by creating a price on carbon. But the program can still be improved in several ways.

The Petroleum Refining, Natural Gas Extraction, and Cement sectors received over 49 million free allowances in 2016. At $12.73 per allowance, that subsidy is worth over $629 million per year. That is in my opinion grossly unwarranted. Reducing or eliminating this subsidy would help bolster demand which has been lagging in recent permit auctions.

The California Climate Credit that appears twice a year on electricity bills can be turned into an off-bill per-capita dividend that would be simple, transparent, and inclusive of disadvantaged communities. The State can gain supporters for the program's extension, by moving the funding for environmental programs into the regular budget process and returning Cap & Trade revenues back to people as climate dividends. That would be a much more advantageous use of the funds.

Subject: Comments on CALIFORNIA CAP ON GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS AND MARKET-BASED COMPLIANCE MECHANISM

Comment:

Lockheed Martin is a global security and aerospace company that employs approximately 98,000 people worldwide and is principally engaged in the research, design, development, manufacture, integration and sustainment of advanced technology systems, products and services. We appreciate the opportunity to provide comments to the California Air Resource Board (known herein as 'Board') regarding the proposed amendments to the CALIFORNIA CAP ON GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS AND MARKET-BASED COMPLIANCE MECHANISMS REGULATION, particularly the amendment set forth in Appendix A: Proposed Regulation Order, Section 95852.2(b)(2), which removes the compliance obligation exemption on emissions from natural gas hydrogen fuel cells. Lockheed Martin respectfully disagrees with the Board's intention to eliminate the aforementioned exemption. Natural gas hydrogen fuel cells efficiently and electrochemically convert fuel into low-carbon, baseload electricity. Greater energy efficiency means less fuel consumed to produce the same output of electricity, and that lower fuel consumption corresponds to fewer CO2 emissions. Even when compared to advanced centralized combined cycle gas turbine power plants equipped with the best available control technology (BACT) – the US EPA's benchmark – natural gas hydrogen fuel cells delivers a lower CO2 footprint due to higher electricity efficiency.

Companies like Lockheed Martin recently invested in this technology with the understanding that the Board would continue to include such emissions in the compliance obligations (exemptions) of Section 95852.2. We invested significant money into the design and purchase of the capital equipment. We have also devoted substantial time into the operation and maintenance of the equipment to maximize efficiencies. All of these actions were completed under the assumption of regulatory relief from the Cap and Trade program.

For the reasons outlined above, Lockheed Martin recommends that the Board retain the language in Section 95852.2(b)(2). By retaining this language, the regulated community will be able to recognize the existing benefits (investments) in clean electricity producing technology, while potentially investing in future cleaner technologies. At a minimum, the Board should consider retaining the exemption and offering a compliance date of no less than 3 years for newly installed fuel cells. This would enable existing sites with fuel cells to fully recognize the benefit of their investments, while providing time for new projects to evaluate the benefits of the investment.

Dear ARB members and staff,

Gaz Métro is a diversified energy company established in the province of Québec, in Canada. We distribute natural gas in Québec and Vermont, and we develop and operate a wide range of energy projects, including natural gas as fuel, liquefied natural gas as a replacement for higher emission-producing energies, wind and solar power, and biomethane.

Please find attached Gaz Métro's comments and recommendations in relation with the proposed amendments to this regulation.

Yours sincerely,

Vincent Pouliot

Re: Comments of Chugach Alaska Corp. and Sealaska Corp. on the Proposed Amendments to the Cap-and-Trade Regulation Regarding Forest Offset Projects.

Dear Chairwoman Nichols and Members of the Air Resources Board,

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed amendments to the Cap-and-Trade Regulation, 17 Cal. Code. Regs. § 95800 et seq. (the "Regulation" or "CTR"). Overall, we commend the California Air Resources Board ("ARB") for undertaking these amendments, which in large part provide necessary clarifications and improvements, particularly as they relate to forest offset projects. Offset projects have provided the Cap-and-Trade Program with a flexible mechanism by which to ease the burden of compliance on the regulated community, while incentivizing environmental stewardship outside of California and Québec. We are excited to participate in the program, and look forward to helping to shape the forest offset program for the benefit of California, as well as our shareholders, our region and the global environment.

Chugach Alaska Corporation (Chugach) is an Alaska Native Regional Corporation established pursuant to the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (ANCSA) of 1971, as amended, 43 U.S.C. § 1601, et seq. We represent approximately 2600 Alaska native shareholders in our region. As an Alaska Native Corporation we understand the unique challenges associated with development of ANCSA lands, which must be done responsibly in order to maintain cultural values and protect subsistence rights, while also providing economic benefits to the people of the region. Chugach, as well as several other Alaska Native Corporations, is in the process of developing a carbon project under the California cap and trade program. We believe participation in the California cap and trade program is a way for us to support environmentally friendly policies that are consistent with our goals of protecting our lands and maintaining long term sustainability for our region and our shareholders.

We strongly support California's commitment to addressing climate change by both reducing GHG emissions and sequestering GHGs. Forest offset projects made possible by the Program enable millions of tons of carbon to be sequestered while also providing critical co-benefits to native peoples in rural Alaska, allowing them to sustain their traditional culture and way-of-life and protect the environment that they have called home for some ten thousand years.

As noted above, in general we believe that most of ARB's proposed amendments will improve the CTR and the Offset Program in particular. We also want to call attention to several proposed changes that we specifically support as making real improvements. That said, we also believe that certain adjustments will better effectuate the goals of the amendments and provide those with forest offset projects better guidance as to the Program's operation. We offer these stakeholder comments in a spirit of support and hope that ARB may find them helpful.

1. We Welcome ARB's Amendment of the Regulatory Compliance Requirement, though More Clarification is Needed.

ARB's clarification in proposed Appendix E of what activities may offend the regulatory compliance requirement set forth in CTR Sections 95973(b) and 95985(c)(2) is a much needed improvement. Specifically, Section (d) of Appendix E brings into the Regulation the commonsense notion that only those activities that actually affect carbon stocks in a forest offset project should be considered for the regulatory compliance requirement. While Appendix E provides much needed clarity, its utility is diminished by the ambiguities in Section 95973(b) that remain unaddressed. The proposed text of CTR Section 95973(b) reads:

Local, Regional, State, and National Regulatory Compliance and Environmental Impact Assessment Requirements. An Offset Project Operator or Authorized Project Designee must fulfill all local, regional, state, and national requirements on environmental impact assessments that apply based on the offset project location. In addition, an offset project must also fulfill all local, regional, state, and national environmental and health and safety laws and regulations that apply based on the offset project location and that directly apply to the offset project, including as specified in a Compliance Offset Protocol. The project is considered out of regulatory compliance if the project activities were subject to enforcement action by a regulatory oversight body during the Reporting Period, although whether such enforcement action has occurred is not the only consideration ARB may use in determining whether a project is out of regulatory compliance.

The troublesome ambiguity lies in the sentence with the highlighted "and," an ambiguity that is underscored by the somewhat open-ended language that is proposed at the end of the provision. We believe that the correct reading of the sentence with the highlighted "and" is that compliance is required at the risk of invalidation only with those legal requirements that both apply to the project location and are directly applicable to the offset project. This is consistent with the thrust of Appendix E's focus on project activities, and also with the language now proposed for inclusion in CTR Section 95973(b)(2) that also focuses on project activities.

However, the provision remains a bit ambiguous. The "and" sentence also can be read to require compliance with legal requirements that apply to the project location in addition to those legal requirements that directly apply to the project itself. Under this interpretation, the violation of, say, a local reporting requirement that is not applicable to the offset project activities but that does apply to the project location could invalidate an entire reporting period's worth of ARBOCs. Such a result would be draconian, especially if it occurs during the initial years of a forest offset project, which is when most of its credits are earned.

In a previous rulemaking addressing section 95973(b), ARB explained that the section only applied to project activities, and went so far as to state "[r]egulatory conformance is intended to be limited to project activities." However, to our knowledge ARB has never directly addressed the ambiguity identified above. We therefore request that ARB reaffirm its interpretation that CTR Sections 95973(b) and 95985(c)(2) as amended mandate compliance at the risk of invalidation only with those legal requirements that directly apply to project activities, thereby making Appendix E the meaningful and helpful addition to the Regulation that it is intended to be.

2. We Welcome the Expanded Reporting Deadline for Submitting a Project's First Offset Project Data Report.

ARB's proposal to expand the reporting deadline for the first offset project data report ("OPDR") for a project is a significant improvement over the CTR's current deadlines. Extending the deadline for the submittal of the first OPDR from 24 to 28 months in order to allow a full 24 months of data to be included, giving the project operator four months to prepare the report itself, is both prudent and practical. Many of the ARBOCs generated by a project likely will occur within the first reporting periods, and allowing projects to capture these credits during the initial phase without having to wait for another reporting period will enhance the timely generation of ARBOCs for use within the Cap-and-Trade Program. It also will facilitate annualized reporting periods.

3. We Welcome the Proposed Allowance of Late-Filed Offset Project Data Reports to Satisfy the Continuous Reporting Requirement.

Allowing a tardy OPDR to satisfy the continuous reporting requirement found in proposed CTR Section 95976(d) provides much needed breathing room in what may otherwise be a fairly drastic provision. Forest projects with vast acreages such as many of those in Alaska will require a lengthy, dedicated effort to ensure that all of the information included in the OPDR is complete and accurate. Given the size of the task for these large projects, there is a chance that a report may not be timely submitted. We thus appreciate ARB's clarification as to what will happen if such an event does occur.

4. Adding Overestimations Due to the Use of Approved Growth Models to the Definition of Intentional Reversal is Inappropriate.

ARB's proposed definition of "intentional reversal" appears to alter what was previously the touchstone of determining the status of a reversal - that is, whether the reversal was "caused by a forest owner's negligence, gross negligence, or willful intent" CTR Section 95802(a)190. A forest owner that so causes a reversal is, appropriately in our view, responsible for replacing the requisite amount of ARBOCs. Id. at 95983(c)(3). However, the proposed definition of "intentional reversal" now includes those reversals that are "caused by approved growth models overestimating carbon stocks." Proposed CTR Section 95802(a). It is difficult to understand how using a growth model approved by ARB is tantamount to "negligence, gross negligence, or willful intent."

It would be far more appropriate to treat as unintentional any reversal due to an overestimation of carbon stocks that results from the use of an approved growth model and not negligence or worse. Such an overestimation may not be the result of an Act of God such as disease and wildfires, the examples cited in the current definition of "unintentional reversal," but they are the result of well-intentioned human acts that cause a reversal just as the intentional setting of a back burn, the exception cited in the definition of "intentional reversal." In both instances, the reversals are the result of acts by persons other than the forest owner. The forest owner should not be held responsible for the acts of others in positions of authority as if she was guilty of negligence, gross negligence, or willful intent. In short, overestimations that result from the use of an approved growth model should be treated as unintentional and not intentional reversals. We therefore respectfully suggest the following modifications to the proposed amendments to CTR Section 95802(a) (italicized words are those already proposed by ARB; our proposed additions are underlined):

"Intentional Reversal" means any reversal, except as provided below, which is caused by a forest owner's negligence, gross negligence, or willful intent, including harvesting, development, and harm to the area within the offset project boundary, or caused by approved growth models overestimating carbon stocks. A reversal caused by an intentional back burn set by, or at the request of, a local, state, or federal fire protection agency for the purpose of protecting forestlands from an advancing wildfire that began on another property through no negligence, gross negligence, or willful misconduct of the forest owner is not considered an intentional reversal but, rather, an unintentional reversal. Receiving Adverse Offset Verification Statements on two consecutive offset verifications after the end of the final crediting period will be considered an intentional reversal.

"Unintentional Reversal" means any reversal, including wildfires or disease that is not the result of the forest owner's negligence, gross negligence, or willful intent, including a reversal caused by approved growth models overestimating carbon stocks. In the case of a wildfire, only trees identified as dead or dying, in the post-event inventory, as a result of the fire will be removed from the project's inventory and compensated from the Forest Buffer Account minus any salvage harvest accounted for under long-term storage.

5. We Welcome ARB's Proposed Amendment Extending the Timeline for Conducting a Post-Unintentional Reversal Carbon Stock Estimate. Because it is not hard to foresee a situation in which it would be necessary, we welcome ARB's proposal to expand the timeline to complete a post-unintentional reversal carbon stock estimate. ARB's proposed section 95983(b)(1) will allow 23 months for such a carbon stock estimate to be conducted. Depending on the acreage involved in such a reversal, providing a complete and accurate carbon estimate may take a significant amount of time. This is especially true for many of the forest projects in Alaska where the acreages are vast. We also welcome as reasonable and practicable ARB's proposal to toll the requirement of submitting an offset project data report while this carbon estimate is being completed.

6. We Support the Purpose of ARB's Proposal Regarding Required GHG Emission Reductions But it Should Be Broadened to Include Jurisdictions Other than California and Linked Jurisdictions. ARB staff has explained that it "is proposing clarification that if a law, regulation, or legally binding mandate to limit GHG emissions that directly applies to an offset project goes into effect during the crediting period of a project, then the project may continue to receive ARB offset credits for the remainder of their crediting period, but may not renew their crediting period." Initial Statement of Reasons (August 2016) (the "ISOR") at 56. We support the spirit of this proposal to protect the expectations of those that have made financial investments in the generation of ARBOCs. Protecting such expectations ensures the continued participation of entities willing to undertake the significant effort and expenditure required to develop compliance offset projects.

However, the regulatory language proposed by ARB does not fully support the purpose identified in the ISOR. Proposed CTR Section 95973(a)(2)(G) speaks only to situations where a GHG reduction requirement "comes into effect in California or in a linked jurisdiction." It does not address what happens with offset projects in jurisdictions such as Alaska. Thus, to account for those jurisdictions outside of California and linked jurisdictions, we respectfully propose the following modification to proposed CTR Section 95973(a)(2)(G):

If any law, regulation, or legally binding mandate requiring GHG emission reductions or GHG removal enhancements comes into effect in California or in a linked jurisdiction pursuant to section 95943 the jurisdiction where the offset project is located during an offset project's crediting period, then the offset project is eligible to continue to receive ARB offset credits for those GHG emission reductions and GHG removal enhancements for the remainder of the offset project's crediting period, but the offset project may not renew that crediting period. If an offset project has not been listed prior to the law, regulation, or legally binding mandate going into effect, or the law, regulation, or legally binding mandate goes into effect before the offset project's crediting period renews, then only emission reductions or removal enhancements that are in excess of what is required to comply with those laws, regulations, and/or legally binding mandates are eligible for ARB offset credits.

This modification will ensure that offset projects in all jurisdictions are treated equally under the Cap-and-Trade Program, and will incentivize the continued participation of entities outside of California and linked jurisdictions.

7. ARB's Proposal to Require Forest Owners to Replace Invalidated Offset Credits in the Forest Buffer Account Should be Improved. Proposed CTR Sections 95985(h)(3) and (i)(3) require the Offset Project Operator (which for a forest offset project is the forest owner) to replace 50% of any ARBOCs are located within the Forest Buffer Account ("FBA") that have been invalidated. Although at first blush it seems logical that these credits would need to be replaced, the proposed requirement actually does not make sense in the context of the regulatory scheme as a whole.

Under the current Regulation, the only invalidated ARBOCs that must be replaced are those that have been used and thus are in a retirement account. CTR Sections 95985(h) and (i). ARBOCs in the FBA, however, have not yet been used. They have not been surrendered to meet a compliance burden, but rather are placed in the FBA to serve as insurance against unintentional reversals. ARBOCs that have been invalidated pursuant to CTR Section 95985(c) reflect a determination that the credits never should have been issued in the first place - and if they had not been issued, then there would have been no need to insure them against reversal. ARB's proposed requirement that only half of the invalidated ARBOCs in the FBA be replaced appears to be a concession that these credits really do not truly need to be replaced. If not, why is ARB only solving half the problem? (The ISOR does not address the 50% replacement rate.)

We suggest that if ARB wishes to require the replacement of invalidated ARBOCs in the FBA, then to be consistent with the rest of the Regulation the number to be replaced should be tied to the number of credits that have been retired from the FBA. This could be done by administering the FBA in such a way that an equal percentage of credits present in the FBA from each offset project are used to compensate for an unintentional reversal. This equalizes the risk of invalidation with the requirement to replace credits retired from the FBA across all forest offset projects, which would harmonize better with the general insurance goals of the FBA. While we do not anticipate ever being in a position where the invalidation provisions affect us, ensuring the integrity of the Program as a whole can only benefit all involved.

Conclusion

Many of the proposed amendments take steps in the right direction for ensuring the long-term integrity of the forest offset projects.

With a few minor adjustments, and further input from the stakeholders involved, we believe that many of the issues addressed in the rulemaking may be resolved to the benefit of the Cap-and-Trade Program, its stakeholders and the global environment.

Once again, we salute California for its commitment to addressing climate change, a commitment that we share, and we thank you for your consideration of these comments. We look forward to continuing to work with ARB regarding this important program.

Sincerely,

Josie Hickel

Subject: Comments regarding proposed revisions to the Cap and Trade regulation

Comment:

First Environment offers the following comments regarding proposed revisions to the Cap and Trade regulation.

Proposed revision to the regulation:

95977.1(b)(3)(R)8 -

If ARB or the Offset Project Registry determines that the detailed verification report required pursuant to 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4.a. does not contain sufficient information to substantiate the attestations in the Offset Verification Statement, then the verification body must submit a revised verification report and a revised Offset Verification Statement to ARB or the Offset Project Registry within 15 calendar days.

Comment:

The language "does not contain sufficient information to substantiate the attestations in the Offset Verification Statement" is vague and does not provide an objective basis for the Offset Project Registry (or verification bodies) to determine whether the verification report meets the requirements of 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4a. To ensure consistency across Offset Project Registries and between verification bodies, the regulation should state the specific criteria that a verification report must meet or refer back to 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4a for the requirements that the report must address to be considered in conformance with the regulation.

Proposed revision to the regulation:

95977.1(b)(3)(R) -

Offset verification services are not complete until ARB offset credits are issued for the GHG emission reductions and GHG removal enhancements reported in an Offset Project Data.

Comment:

While verification bodies may anticipate questions and comments from ARB or the OPR after submittal of the verification report and statement, the regulation should not define the period between this submission and issuance of ARB offset credits to be part of "verification services." Consistent with international best practices in financial auditing, third party audit services must have a defined scope including specific starting and ending dates during which the assessment of evidence was performed. To avoid unnecessary uncertainty regarding the scope of the verification process, verification services should be considered complete after the submission of the report and statement to the OPR. This proposed revision should be removed and the regulation can continue to rely on the existing text at 95977.1(b)(3)(S), which states that verification requirements are considered to be met when ARB Offsets are issued.

Subject: Comments on cap-and-trade beyond 2020

Comment:

The Center for Biological Diversity very strongly supports California's continuing commitment to statewide reductions in greenhouse gas emissions beyond 2020. However, the Center has deep concerns with the Proposed Amendments as they overwhelmingly rely on cap-and-trade as the primary mechanism for achieving emissions reductions, and they would perpetuate certain crucial failings of California's current greenhouse gas Cap-and-Trade program. Therefore, the Center respectfully urges the Board to reject the Proposed Amendments to extend the existing Cap-and-Trade program beyond 2020, and to pursue alternative, non-cap-and-trade approaches to achieving California's greenhouse gas reductions.

Table 8-1 on page 161 of the revised Cap and Trade Regulation incorrectly shows NAICS code 325194 in the Medium Leakage Risk Category with an Assistance Factor of 75% for the Third Compliance Period. Both the 15-Day Notice text (p. 14) and Table 5 of Attachment B show NAICS in the High Leakage Risk Category with an Assistance Factor of 100% for the Third Compliance Period. This should be corrected in the second 15-day regulatory package.

Subject: Comments on C&T regulation revisions

Comment:

First Environment offers the following comments regarding proposed revisions to the Cap and Trade regulation.

Proposed revision to the regulation:

95977.1(b)(3)(R)8 -

If ARB or the Offset Project Registry determines that the detailed verification report required pursuant to 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4.a. does not contain sufficient information to substantiate the attestations in the Offset Verification Statement, then the verification body must submit a revised verification report and a revised Offset Verification Statement to ARB or the Offset Project Registry within 15 calendar days.

Comment:

The language "does not contain sufficient information to substantiate the attestations in the Offset Verification Statement" is vague and does not provide an objective basis for the Offset Project Registry (or verification bodies) to determine whether the verification report meets the requirements of 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4a. To ensure consistency across Offset Project Registries and between verification bodies, the regulation should state the specific criteria that a verification report must meet or refer back to 95977.1(b)(3)(R)4a for the requirements that the report must address to be considered in conformance with the regulation.

Proposed revision to the regulation:

95977.1(b)(3)(R) -

Offset verification services are not complete until ARB offset credits are issued for the GHG emission reductions and GHG removal enhancements reported in an Offset Project Data.

Comment:

While verification bodies may anticipate questions and comments from ARB or the OPR after submittal of the verification report and statement, the regulation should not define the period between this submission and issuance of ARB offset credits to be part of "verification services." Consistent with international best practices in financial auditing, third party audit services must have a defined scope including specific starting and ending dates during which the assessment of evidence was performed. To avoid unnecessary uncertainty regarding the scope of the verification process, verification services should be considered complete after the submission of the report and statement to the OPR. This proposed revision should be removed and the regulation can continue to rely on the existing text at 95977.1(b)(3)(S), which states that verification requirements are considered to be met when ARB Offsets are issued.

Comment:

To the Clerk of the Board:

Attached please find our comments to the proposed 15-Day Amendment to the cap and trade regulation for post-2020 assistance factors for our industry, the paperboard sector (NAICS Code 322130). ARB's approach and data for our sector do not adequately describe the paperboard market, and therefore the proposed post-2020 assistance factors are inappropriate. We provide recommendations for addressing shortfalls in ARB's approach and data so that a more accurate characterization of our sector with fair assistance factors can be developed. Under separate cover we are also providing more detailed confidential business information to support the attached recommendations. Please give these recommendations your strongest consideration in finalizing these cap and trade amendments.

RE: Public Comment on Amendments to the California Cap on Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Market-Based Compliance Mechanisms Regulation (Attachment A: Proposed Amendments to the California Cap on Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Market-Based Compliance Mechanisms Regulation)

On behalf of the City of Long Beach, I write to comment on the 15-day language issued by the California Air Resources Board (CARB) pertaining to Proposed Amendments to the California Cap on Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Market-Based Compliance Mechanisms Regulation. Long Beach strongly supports CARB staff's recommendation to formalize the limited exemption in the 2nd compliance period for waste-to-energy facilities; and understands these facilities will be subject to compliance during the 3rd compliance period, beginning in 2018. The City looks forward to our continued partnership with CARB and other State agencies to continue greenhouse gas emission reductions through a multitude of means, including improved waste disposal options so as to reduce methane impacts associated with landfills.

In partnership with Covanta Energy, Long Beach proposes a long-term solution that would include waste-to-energy facilities in the cap beginning in the 3rd compliance period with a provision for allowances to be granted on the basis of the output-based allocation methodology. This approach provides a more level and equitable playing field in the waste management sector over the long-term, thereby preventing emissions leakage out of the cap to landfills. The City of Long Beach supports the methodology proposed in Covanta Energy's comment letter on this issue.

Since Long Beach, in partnership with the Los Angeles County Sanitation District, began operating the Southeast Resource Recovery Facility (SERRF), our waste-to-energy facility, in 1988, the facility has processed approximately 1,400 tons of municipal solid waste (MSW) per day. Over the course of the past 28 years, 13.2 million tons of MSW has been processed through SERRF, creating 6.2 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity that has been loaded onto the regional grid. This MSW would have otherwise been sent to a landfill. Through the recovery process at SERRF, 5,115 tons of recyclable white goods and 184,000 tons of metal have also been extracted and sent to local recycling facilities as opposed to a landfill. Furthermore, based on CalRecycle assumptions on California landfill performance, facility specific greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions data as reported to the United States Environmental Protection Agency (U.S. EPA), as well as facility specific net electrical generation and the local electrical grid (based on U.S. EPA e-GRID data for the WECC California grid sub-region), the waste-to-energy facility in Long Beach enables the region to avoid approximately 0.6 tons of CO₂e per ton of MSW processed. As a result of diverting MSW from landfills to SERRF, there has been a reduction of 7.92 million tons of carbon equivalent greenhouse gasses entering the environment.

Long Beach is proud to manage one of California's three waste-to-energy facilities, which provide an alternative to landfilling. The use of waste-to-energy technologies for waste disposal is consistent with the City's commitment to sustainability, recycling, and other environmentally friendly policies. We are pleased to share our facility consistently operates at 20% below pollutant concentration limits in the facility permit, and supplements local waste reduction efforts. While using waste-to-energy technologies in the City, Long Beach residents generate 4.0 pounds/person/day of solid waste, well below the current State target mandate of 7.6 pounds/person/day. The City also offers a Compost Pilot Program, collecting over 1,000 gallons of compost each week from local restaurants. Residents also benefit from a mulch program whereby City tree trimming operations offer mulch to individual families rather than send the materials to a landfill; more than 500 tons of mulch was used locally by Long Beach residents through this program in 2016 alone.

These programs are constantly evolving to meet State standards and the needs of our community. Long Beach's waste-to-energy facility is merely one component of a larger waste reduction strategy - but it is an integral component, and the City values its benefits.

Continued operation of the waste-to-energy facility in Long Beach is not guaranteed, especially with significant upcoming changes that will impact the economics of the facility. While Long Beach values the numerous environmental benefits afforded by SERRF, it is imperative to the City that the facility is economically sustainable as well.

Given these reasons, the City of Long Beach supports CARB's 15-day language pertaining to Amendments to the California Cap on Greenhouse Gas Emissions and Market-Based Compliance Mechanisms, and looks forward to working with CARB on a path towards allowances.

Should you have any questions, please contact Diana Tang, Manager of Government Affairs, at 562-570-6506 or Diana.Tang@longbeach.gov.

Sincerely,

Patrick H. West

Subject: Limited Exemption Concern

Comment:

Tesoro disagrees with CARB's proposed revision to the limited exemption calculation in 95920(d)(2)(F). The proposal will substantially reduce our ability to manage the allowances needed for compliance and current compliance flexibility found in the regulation. We specifically oppose the reduction in the limited exemption by the amount of allowances that are required to be surrendered when an annual compliance obligation is due. We understand that CARB has proposed this in order to provide some 'equivalency' to linked programs in Canada, but the Canadian provinces do not have an annual surrender obligation so there is no need for CARB to reduce our compliance flexibility based on the approach in Canada. That is to say that the Canada requirements for surrender of obligations are already different than those in California; therefore, there is no need for equivalency in the amount of the limited exemption. This recent proposed change, when added to existing restrictive holding limits, just makes compliance more difficult for entities with large compliance obligations and adds no program environmental benefit.

Comment:

The California Independent Oil Marketers Association (CIOMA) represents about 300 members, including nearly 90% of all the independent petroleum marketers in the state and about one quarter of the state's 10,000 service stations. Our members are small, family- and minority-owned businesses that provide services to nearly every family in California. Additionally, CIOMA members fuel local governments, law enforcement, city and county fire departments, ambulances/emergency vehicles, school district bus fleets, construction firms, marinas, public and private transit companies, hospital emergency generators, trucking fleets, independent fuel retailers (small chains and mom-and-pop gas stations) and California agriculture, among many others.
