Comment:

Suggest incentive approach, like Carl Moyer, to encourage car buyers to move to higher mileage/lower polluting vehicles. However, to make it most effective, I envision a carrot and stick approach.

Carrot: purchasers of high mileage/low polluting vehicles would get money back via rebates or credits.

Stick: buyers of low mileage/high polluting vehicle would pay a fee. These fees would fund the rebates.

Over time, the threshold for rebates could increase to push the public to higher mileage/lower polluting choices.
